WHITE'S BAR.

BY M. QUAD.

One day when Zeb White, the possum hunter of Tennessee, and I were fishing for brook trout in a mountain stream and had become weary of our poor luck, he laid aside his rod and told me this story:

"One spring about five years ago," he began, "an ornery black hawk got into my garden and roared up about half the truck bed I knowed he was that. That hawk was as big as a yarin' calf and as destructive as a cyclone. He'd cum back thru the brush fence as fast as I could drive him out, and at the end of a week he'd cleaned out my patch."

"As he was a stray hog, why didn't you give him a dose of bird-shot?" I asked.

"That's just what I did do—give him ten at a clump, but he never even jumped when that shot struck him. Reason his hide must have been an inch thick. I was goin' to try bullets on him, but he suddenly disappeared. I went to work and planted my truck again, and he just got the last of it into the air when he walks that blamed hawk as cool as January. I run fur my rifle and fired at him and keeled him over, but arter a minute he got up and snatched off with his tail a-twirlin' as if he had been tickled. As he didn't cum back fur a couple of hours I reckoned he was done fur good. That evenin', however, just as we was goin' to bed, I heard somethin' pushing through the fence, and I see to the old woman, sez I:

"Durn my buttons, if that 'ere hawk hain't cum back to root up our truck-patch again!"

"Shore it's a hawk!" she asks, as she listened a bit.

"Of co'se I'm shore! What other varmint could be round yere 'cept a hawk?"

"If that's a hawk then he's got claws on his feet, fur I kin 'em cum!"

"Claws! Click! Old woman, you must've turned fool! It's that ornery, low-down black hawk, and I'll hev his life if I hev to pursue him all night!"

"Zeb White," sez she, as I gits down my rifle and begins to load it, "don't yo' go and make no mistake about that hawk!"

"As how?" sez I.

"He's to be a hawk at all! Jest put yo' nose to this crack in the door and tell me what you smell!"

"I smell a pesky hawk!"

"Then yo' smell has gone back on you! I smell 'ar!"

"You 'ar a fool!"

"And yo'll be a bigger one if yo' don't look out! Can't yo' 'ar him growl?"

"That's the grunt of a hawk!"

"I say it's a b'ar!"

"That was he's round the place at that time, shore 'nuff," continued Zeb, "but I was so powerfully upset about that hawk that I couldn't think of b'ars. The old woman saw that I was sot and determined, and so she stood aside and let me open the door and pass out. It was a dark night, and it might 'a' been two minits b'ar I could see anythin'."

"Blime-by I see that pesky hawk over among the bean-hills, and I drewed up my gun and fired."

"Did you kill him, Zeb?" asked the old woman as she cums to the door.

"Reckon I did, as I heard sunthin' drap."

"That's he!"

"Over by the bean-hills."

"I was cranin' my neck and peerin' throw the darkness when all of a sudden sunthin' riz up above the fence and dropped down on my side, and the next minit I was tickled."

"By a b'ar!"

"That's just what it was, sah, and a mighty big one at that. Mebbe it hit him when I fired, but I dunno. I made him mad, however, and he was full of b'ness as he got back of me. Yo' kin reckon I had plenty to think of in fightin' fur my life, and yet I remember what passed between me and the old woman."

"What's got at yo', Zeb?" she asks as she hears the racket.

"A pesky b'ar!" sez I.

"Yo' mean a hawk?"

"No; it's a b'ar, and durn my hide if he hain't chawin' me up."

"He can't be. It's a hawk, and he's jest playin' with yo'! It's a little chilly startin' yere in the doah, and I'll go in. When yo' git tired of playin' with that yere hawk yo' kin cum in and go to bed!"

"And all this time you were fightin' with the b'ar?" I asked.

"I was, fur shore. When he cum on, I clubbed my rifle and knocked him over, but he was up in a flash and at me again. He clawed me and he bit me, and I must have rolled him over seven or eight times. I broke the stock of my rifle and then used the b'ar, and it was anybody's fight fur ten minits. When all my clothes were clawed to rags, and I was all over bites and scratches and blood, I got in a blow which made that old b'ar see stars, and he turned tail and snatched off. I hain't gwine to do no braggin', but I walloped that varmint in a stand-up fight and had a right to feel proud of it."

"And were you badly hurt?"

"It was a matter of three or fo' weeks in bed. The intensions of that b'ar war' all right, but I was too hefty fur him."

"And what did Mrs. White say when you went into the house?"

"That hurt me most as much as the clawin'," he replied. "It was all I could do to reach the doah, and when I opened it, she looked up and sez:

"Got through playin' with that hawk, Zeb?"

"I've been clawed by a b'ar!" sez I as I drops down on the floor."

"Can't bel' yo' smelt hawk befo' yo' went out, and yo' shot at a hawk arter you got out. Purty playfu! wain't he?"

"Mebbe she said a heap on top of that, as I fainted away and didn't cum around fur two hours. That's the way I went with a woman, yo' know. Let her git the advantage of a man, and she don't want to let up. It was high three months befo' I got over that clawin' and jest about every two hours of that time the old woman would smile like a possum in the sun and softly say, Zeb? Wall, yo' soon be up and hev a chance to playin'-around-roy with another black hawk!"—Detroit Free Press.

Not Fond of New Things.

Samuel Spring, chaplain to the expedition against Quebec under Benedict Arnold, was one of the most gallant and eloquent of the revolutionary preachers. He was pastor of a church in Newburyport for 40 years. He did not like new ways and when a church near by purchased an organ he referred contemptuously to "our neighbor's box of whistles." Once some unwise parishioners conspired to modernize the music a little in their own church. They did not tell the pastor; only, when it came time for the first hymn, the tentative, gentle, prolonged opening wall of a bass viol was heard.

Back went Dr. Spring's spectacles; up came his tall form to its utmost height, his black eyes glared fiercely toward the choir seats, and he said, quietly, but in a voice not to be disobeyed:

"Remove that fiddle from the house of God!"

There was no further innovation while Samuel Spring commanded the parish of the North church.—Youth's Companion.

GLASS DRESSES AND CURTAINS.

Cloth That is Fine Enough to Be Worn Next to the Skin.

Articles of dress are now being extensively made of glass. A Venetian manufacturer is turning out bonnets by the thousand, the glass cloths of which they are composed having the same shimmer and brilliancy of color as silk, and what is a great advantage, being impervious to water. In Russia every hat for a long time existed of tissue manufactured from the fiber of a peculiar filamentous stone from the Siberian mines, which by some secret process is shredded and spun into a fabric which, although soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, is of so durable a nature that it never wears out. This is probably what has given an enterprising firm the idea of producing spun-glass dress lengths.

The Muscovite stuff is thrown into the fire when dirty, like asbestos, by which it is made absolutely clean again; but the spun-glass cloth is simply brushed with a hard brush and soap and water, and is none the worse for being either stained or soiled. The material is to be had in white, green, lilac, pink and yellow, and bids fair to become very fashionable for evening dresses. An Austrian is the inventor of this novel fabric, which is rather costly. Tabloethos, napkins and window curtains are also made of it. It has also been discovered that glass is capable of being turned into a fine cloth, which can be worn next to the skin without the slightest discomfort.—Chambers' Journal.

Make Yourself Strong.

If you would resist pneumonia, bronchitis, typhoid fever, and persistent coughs and colds. These ills attack the weak and run down system. They can find no foothold where the blood is kept pure, rich and full of vitality, the purified good blood circulating vigorously, with Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache.

Owensboro is up to date with an organ on wheels pulled by a piebald horse.

A Prominent Minister.

Rev. T. R. Kendall, pastor Grace M. E. Church, Atlanta, Ga., says: "I take pleasure in testifying to the great virtue of King's Royal Germetue in relieving night sweats resulting from the debilitating influence of malaria. In a severe ordeal through which my family passed from this oppressive affliction, I found Germetue to be an immediate specific. Have also found it a speedy tonic to the digestion, and a most grateful and refreshing remedy in the hottest season when suffering from relaxation and general debility. New package, larger bottle, 108 doses, $1. For sale by R. C. Hardwick."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Perogin, Bismar's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called soothing syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Picher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Picher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria," and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Picher is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Picher's Castoria.

The schedule printed below is a comprehensive guide to the best and most desirable route to Atlanta from the North and Northwest, Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Terre Haute and Evansville.

Palace day coaches and Pullman sleeping cars are attached to all trains shown in this schedule.

Extremely low rates have been made to Atlanta and return, via the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway. All trains run solid between Nashville and Atlanta, except train in last column. The train in third column, which leaves Cincinnati at 4:30 p.m., runs solid to Atlanta. This is the route of the famous "Dixie Flyer," through all the year round sleeping car line between Nashville, Tenn., and Jacksonville, Florida.

At Least One Contested Legislative Seat Heading That Way.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 26.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that at least one of the contested election cases pending in the House against Democratic members, that of Weiner against Tompkins, will shortly be brought to a conclusion, the committee having decided to seat the Republican contestant.

It is also stated that proceedings against Cecil Pense, Democrat, of Covington, will not be pressed unless made necessary by revolutionary tactics in the Senate. In the event of such necessity, proceedings will be instituted against several other Democratic members in the lower house.

Both parties have had men out gathering evidence in all close districts. No steps will be taken in any of the contests until Feb. 6, when the successor of Willson, Democrat, deceased, shall have been elected.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which beset us before proper diagnosis, it is a relief to know that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constitutional condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere consumed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are felt so fast, that it is the one remedy which promotes intestinal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get the beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and only the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

J. M. Adams, Agent.
The Kentucky, as an advertising medium, is unsurpassed in this end of the State. Only this week one of its patrons, who had been running a small local with us writes: "Discontinue ad. It has done its work well." Another patron of Southern Christian writes: "First insertion located stray animal, thirty miles away, in Trigg County."

A reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Abernathy Thursday night, complimentary to the Ad You Like It Club. There were about two dozen couples present and a most pleasant evening was spent. A sumptuous repast, consisting of meats, cakes, coffee, etc., was served at 11 o'clock, after which merry conversation was indulged in until a late hour.

An old farmer of fifty years experience, writing on tobacco, growing, says: "There is more demand for tobacco than ever before in the world, but every fellow who raises it to supply the whole business. Twice as much is raised as can be used, and the low price is natural. I assert, that if the farmer would grow to the old plan two and one-half or three acres to the hand, all of his tobacco would be worth $10 to $12, and even more in these hard times. Then, too, the crop would be of infinitely superior quality to what it is now."

While the number of people at the Acadia hotel at Dawson is not so large now as during the Summer season, those who are here are receiving great benefit from the water, which was never in better condition. A sojourn at Dawson now means improvement in health as well as much enjoyment. The Holmans know just how to please everybody by good treatment and all who stop at the Acadia are given the best of attention at all times. This hotel certainly deserves the large patronage it enjoys the year round.

DEATHS.

Dr. M. C. Ramsey, formerly of Trenton, died in Lexington, last week. He removed from Trenton about two years ago.

STEWART.—Miss Mary Stewart, a daughter of Dr. E. S. Stewart, of Fairview, died at her home Friday morning of typhoid fever, aged about 20 years. The remains were brought to this city Saturday afternoon and laid to rest in Hopewell cemetery.

WATKINS.—Minnie Watkins, aged 18 years, died of consumption at Gracy, Sunday night.

Recommended by Prominent Citizens.
A Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Commercial in speaking of the appointment of Postell as Steward of the asylum here, among other things, says:

"Postell's appointment was made on the recommendation of the following prominent Kentucky city Republicans: John P. Prosser, Clerk County Board; M. J. Davis, State Christian Union; Wyatt Watt, A. H. Anderson, District Chairman; ex-Senator J. W. Downer, H. G. Goley, Deputy Sheriff; E. Williams, Deputy Sheriff; J. B. Everett, Assessor; Frank Prosser, Deputy Clerk; John W. Breathitt, County Judge; Jas. Allenworth, Coroner; R. T. H. Major, all applicants for Steward, withdrew their claims and urged the appointment of Postell."

The meeting at the Methodist church in Lafayette, conducted by Rev. J. W. Love, is increasing in interest with each day. Rev. D. W. Boyce, of Adairville, will preach on the 11th, city yesterday en route to Loretto, and will assist Rev. Love in the meeting the balance of this week and all of next.

MATRIMONIAL.

HANBRY-ROWE.—Yesterday at 3 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother at Crofton, Miss Nola Day Rowe, daughter of the late Dr. Jas. Rowe, and Judge J. T. Hanbry, of this city, were married.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Bell, accompanied by Dr. M. J. Davis, and Dr. C. H. Nash. Present were the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hanbry and his law partner, Mr. Frank Bell, accompanied by Dr. M. J. Davis, and Dr. C. H. Nash.

A few outside of the Judge's most intimate friends, knew of the fact that he was entertaining a matrimonial idea and the announcement goes out in the shape of a surprise to a large list of friends and acquaintances.

His bride is a most attractive young lady, and is exceedingly popular in Crofton society, and has many friends in this city, where she has frequently visited.

Judge Hanbry has been City Clerk for some time and is one of the brightest young attorneys at this bar. He is a fine business man and is very popular with all. He is a member of the law firm of Hanbry & Bell, who enjoy an excellent practice in their chosen profession, and the Kentucky extends hearty congratulations to the happy couple.

Mr. Hanbry and his bride have taken rooms at Mrs. Rawle's, on Liberty street, where they will board for the present.

WESTSTEIN-BRANDON.—At the Catholic church in Clarksville last Sabbath evening, Miss Mamie Brandon, of that place, was married to Mr. Norman Weststein, a plumber of this city. After the ceremony the couple left for this place, arriving at 8:40 p. m., where they will reside.

Struck by a Falling Tree.

CLARKSVILLE, Jan. 26.—Henry Gafford, a planer of this county, was perhaps fatally injured while assisting in felling timber on the plantation of Joseph Weems. He did not succeed in getting out of reach of a tree and it struck him. He would have been killed outright had not the tree caught against another tree. His right side was injured, which caused the blood to flow from his nose and mouth. He is yet in a bad condition, so it is reported.

"Cleopatra" Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow night Jan., 26th, Lillian Lewis will present her big dramatic spectacle at the Holland opera house. The prices have been made to range from 25c to $1.00, and a little in advance. The Barcroft ballet in a novelty and most refined.

The appearance of Miss Lillian Lewis as "Cleopatra" in a big spectacular production of that play will be the most important dramatic event of the week, and is awaited with much interest.

Local theatre goers are always ready to accord a hearty welcome to such an organization. Society has everywhere in our city, and as such, Miss Lewis is "Cleopatra" has created a sensation. That the public does want classic drama embellished with scenery, costumes and light is certain, for the business of the season has been enormous.

The important features in "Cleopatra" or the storm scene, of which so much has been said that it can justly be called the most famous of the Egyptian empress herself, could she see them.

As presented by Miss Lillian Lewis the vision of Cleopatra as the Goddess Isis in her royal barge, on the river Cydnus—is this a reproduction of the poets description; the tableau in the temple of Isis, the Scrim in Statuary square. The costumes worn in "Cleopatra" by the chorus, the ballet the Premier, and the hands high, dignified, and voluptuous and characteristic of the time of Cleopatra. Those worn by Miss Lewis are beautiful enough to rival the most famous of the Egyptian empress herself, could she see them.

It is easy to humbug a man open. When he has been persuaded into buying cheap, inferior whisky he never does it again if he can help it. Inferior whisky is disgusting, poisonous and unsatisfactory in every way. Besides it is dangerous to health and comfort. Don't buy whisky at random. The risk is too great. Get a high grade liquor that has been tested and proved. The L. W. HARRIS, Nelson County, Ky. whisky has made a reputation by its excellence. It is invariably good and can always be depended upon.
